The work of installing the furniture and equipment for the hospital is being allowed to go on without interruption and everything will be in place by Aug. 1 at the latest. Much has been accomplished already in the way of grading about the hospital premises and a sewing of grass seed made several days ago is already beginning to get acquainted with the summer sun and showers. It is considered probable that the dedication will take place either on the 4th or 5th of August, although plans for the opening day have not fully matured.

A North Main street fruit dealer, while counting a pile of change this morning, came across an American quarter-dollar of the vintage of 1834. For the most part, the coin resembles the quarter in use to-day, although the screaming eagle engraved on both had not attained its present stature in 1834 and the finish of the older coin is not so smooth. A numismatist informs the fruit dealer that there is a fair premium on the 1834 quarters.

Once more the elements plotted successfully to thwart the plans of the Barre Citizens' band last night and for the fifth time this season a large crowd of people who set a store on open-air concerts when the rain falls on hand concert night. A fine drizzle which began to drip in the late afternoon developed into a shower of more aggravating proportions by nightfall and any attempt to sound the cylinders out of doors would have been foolhardy.

Manager S. N. Parker stated to-day that the concert deferred from last night on account of the weather will not be given until next Wednesday. Unless the weather man is persuaded to change his tactics, the band will begin a series of Sunday afternoon concerts in August.
